New Invention Investment Opportunity – ezVue Storage System

An opportunity currently exists for potential licensees or investors to become involved with an innovative new product, the ezVue storage system. The ezVue is a storage device designed to capitalise on limited space by creating multiple shelves within a single drawer, made possible through its unique patented hinge system. The inventor is currently seeking investors or potential licensees to deliver the product to market.

The ezVue offers a variety of features and benefits and could be adapted to suit a wide range of applications and commercial markets. As an effective 'storage and organisation product', the device could be suitable for a number of industries such as the consumer office products market.

The device could also be tailored to suit the home, shed, caravan or boat, or in any situation space is limited. Depending on the application, the product could be easily customised to house a variety of items for example, office records, CD/DVDs or food products.
